Message from the Head Teacher

Dear Parents / Carers,

What a busy week we have just had!

We started the week with an anti-bullying workshop for KS 2 children. Both the children and staff found the sessions very valuable and informative. Simon Firth, who led the workshop, clearly demonstrated how damaging bullying can be and what one should do to stop it from happening. The issue of being a by stander was particularly interesting and thought provoking.

On Tuesday a Remembrance Service was held in the church, which was very moving and somber. The children, including the young ones, were quieter than during our normal joyful services and observed the two minute silence dutifully.

A special celebration assembly took place on Wednesday, during which all the children sang the songs they have learnt so far, following our new music scheme called Charanga. We are very grateful to Mrs Matthews for introducing the scheme to our school. The children are obviously enjoying their new music lessons.

On Thursday we had our annual Open Evening for prospective parents which was very well attended, showing how popular our school has become. I would like to thank the volunteers who supported the event; governors, parents and the church readers who were in charge of the refreshments, probably the busiest activity of the whole event. Special thanks should also go to the children who volunteered on the day; they received many compliments and made us all feel very proud, so thanks again to you all.

The week culminated with our annual money raising event - Children in Need. I am so glad I did not have to lead any official meetings today, wearing spotty pyjamas! Thank you for being so generous and supporting this worthwhile event. There are so many children who desperately need our help so it is always much appreciated.

I hope to see you all next Saturday at the Christmas Bazaar.
