Message of the Week

Dear Parents/Carers,

No one would argue that in order to lead a successful life reading, writing and numeracy skills are essential, particularly if we want to secure a decent job. At Christ Church, however, we strongly believe that a primary school is much more than just about the basic skills. A good quality primary education should provide each child with a rich and varied curriculum; my staff always think about different ideas to ensure that the children develop as many different skills and knowledge as is possible within the resources available to us.

This is why, on the first day back we had an Art morning, during which the children learnt about a range of famous artists. They became familiar with the artists' famous paintings, studied their styles and finally produced their own work in the style of their artist.

Some of the children's work is currently displayed in the main corridor, so if you have time, please pop in to school and check out the displays, they are really interesting.

Crossing Patrol

Please remember that our crossing patrol are there for the safety of not only our children but yourselves. Please make sure that we make use of them when crossing the road. We have lots of parents that are choosing to cross at various other points in the road and we are worried this may be unsafe to do so, particularly when we have crossing patrol in place to help you.
